UFORIC INVESTIGATIVE/RESEARCH REPORT ON UFO OBSERVATIONS

A down-to-earth talk about flying saucers

By Matt Graeber

From 1972 to 1980, I was the director of a small Philadelphia-based UFO report and information center acronymed U.F.O.R.I.C.

During my eight year stint, the group's investigators and I sought to discover trends or spikes in the data we collected from various sources such as Police Departments, Radio, and TV stations, Newspapers, Technicians at the Franklin Institute's Fels Planetarium, Air Facilities, and the general public. Our inquiry involved a three-state area as well as a three-part investigative process involving long-term acquaintance with some of the witnesses. This was done to observe changes in personality, since the UFO experience was said to be transformative to many observers. We did not observe this to be factual.

UFORIC started out as a "pro-UFO" organization. As "the research data produced no meaningful spikes or trends", it became increasingly clear that UFOs as visiting alien space ships were not being observed and reported. Of course, this finding goes against the grain of many UFO experts' statements. But, I have come to realize that "self-appointed expertise" is not a virtue. It's often a very subjective, delusional, and monetary-gain vice! However, that is a sad story for another time.

At the moment, we are discussing the obvious lack of trends in these data, which many experts find to be baffling and very mysterious, as they write their books on the so-called UFO enigma.

UFORIC often started its inquiries with a phone report and observation particulars mentioned by the observer(s) were noted and jotted down by the investigator(s). These particulars were later compared with the information stated in a written report form which was mailed to the observers and then filed by the observers. This was done to detect inconsistencies, embellishments, omissions, and/or exaggerations that did not appear in their earlier phone report and often gave us insights into the personality of the observer before we actually sat down and interviewed him or her. In some cases, like the Carbondale incident/hoax of 1974, the size and coloration of the object observed changed dramatically, while in other cases, the reports were quite consistent and felt to be truthful.

However, witness perceptive accuracy and subjectivity also were serious problems (e.g., sometimes, it was learned the witnesses did not have their glasses on at the time of their sighting experience and the object was often far too distant to be clearly identified, which meant the UFO description was often assumed, not actually seen).

Nocturnal Light Observations (NLOs) were particularly difficult to investigate and when the lights were red, white, and green in color and traveled in a straight line that corresponded to known flight paths of airliners, we generally thought them to be "misidentifications" of conventional aircraft. Moreover, many NLOs were often not heard, which seemed reasonable considering their altitude and pronounced distance. This was one of the very few spikes found in some of our data and was not mysterious or baffling in character.

In 1980, UFORIC officially disbanded shortly after I had received a very nasty phone call from the New York City grand daddy of modern-day abduction lore. He was very angry with me because I failed to believe a man I considered to be a hoaxing witness who contended he had been abducted by aliens.

The caller was utterly "off-the-wall" with his attitude and comments. I had not actually called the witness a hoaxer yet, but merely hesitated to peruse his report rigorously enough—according to the abduction expert. Later experiences with other abductologists revealed a similar tendency toward arrogance mixed with delusional attitude.

Just last year, in my 36th year of being a UFOlogist (which is also a completely non-existent and another self-appointed title for a totally subcultural hobby), I conducted a published interview with another abductee which appeared in Speculative Realms. She spoke of research mistreatment, psychological abuses, and medical misdiagnosis by a professor of American history—NOT a certified psychiatrist. I quickly realized as the interview progressed that my earlier fears concerning this growing and popular abduction phase of UFOlogy had been confirmed!

UFOlogy had been through many, many stages and phases over the years—Ancient Astronauts, the Bermuda Triangle, Portals, Star Gates, Openings at the top of the world, Nazi aircraft experimentation, and even Invisible UFOs colliding with airliners. But, abductology is by far the most deluded and dangerous hobby. Its practitioners are often not trained, or skilled in hypnosis, psychology, or psychiatry. Some actually “believe” they, too, have been abducted by little aliens from another world, and one fellow even offered his female abduction clients naked hot tub therapy.

So much for professional objectivity!

I shall not bore you to tears with UFORIC data, statistics, and graphs to prove my points that UFOs are not visiting alien space craft and that the continuing so-called baffling and mysterious 63-year-old enigma is a sham. With all the intensive researches and aggressive investigations taking place all over the planet by government scientists and amateurs alike, no one has ever presented one tiny piece of incontrovertible evidence to prove their point.

Since this is primarily a visual phenomenon, I would like to present these multi-group sketches of reported objects. Notice the wide variation and totally non-aerodynamic structures. They may travel through the vacuum of space, but once they enter earth's atmosphere they would burn and fall like rocks (barring of course, black-magical propulsion systems . . . if you “believe” in such things). As a sixty-nine-year-old UFOlogist, I wanted to pass along (absolutely free of charge) what I have learned over the years. That is, before the great mother ship swoops down here for me. Yes, belief in UFOs is a matter of faith and desired entertainment . . . NOT science or common sense!

If you want some real movement and answers in UFO research, you may join a revolution in UFOlogy by boycotting the book sales of irresponsible publishers and writers/experts whom you suspect are not Freuds but Frauds!

End the stagnation.

It is time for newthinking, change, and responsibility to take hold of the enigma!

Hello Matt,
 So, I read your contribution. Interesting as it throws some light on UFORIC activities. I only hope its investigations didn't limited themselves mainly to "Hendry style" phone calls (sigh). Generally speaking, I agree with your arguments except when you write "Our inquiry [sometimes]involved a (...) long-term acquaintance with some of the witnesses. This was done to observe changes in personality, since the UFO experience was said to be transformative to many observers. We did not observe this to be factual". Sorry to contradict you but my own investigations don't match with that appreciation. In most of the RR3/4 cases I came to be knowledgable (my owns or those of collegas)it was just the opposite that was constated. But society as it is tends to drastically repress and downgrade those transformations which then turn out destructive to the percipient. Mss Woods case is a very good recent example. She now says : "I don't know what happened but the only thing I want now is to forget it all and finally try to be happy". May my best wishes lead her path in that prospect.

CONTEMPORARY PSYCHOANALYTIC MUSINGS

- Richard Geist delineates Self from Ego Psychology

"I realize there is an all-too-human tendency to believe reports that originate in one's homeland. That is why Dr. Vallee believes his French witnesses. But, misperceptions and hoaxes do happen in broad daylight and are perpetrated by all peoples.

"I hope you have 'allowed' for the transformative aspects to be 'self-regulating' and ego-motivated.... Possibly, 'unrelated' to the UFO experience itself. That is why we at UFORIC had tracked witnesses for years. I still have contacts with a woman who was said to have been abducted by Jacobs AND Cary years ago. Yes, she has grown somewhat as a person but, not because of the UFO experience. In fact Dr. Sprinkle also analyzed the case. She and her husband rejected the 'reincarnated' analysis....

"While Dr. Vallee believes his witnesses saw a UFO pass right through a stand of trees, TMM objects cannot occupy the same time and space. But, it may be fun to think they can."

I think (and many others do too) that the enigma is older than 63 years. Perhaps it's been with us since our beginnings as human beings (cave wall drawings, medieval frescos, oral and written creation 'myths').

Matt wrote: "They may travel through the vacuum of space, but once they enter earth's atmosphere they would burn and fall like rocks (barring of course, black-magical propulsion systems . . . if you "believe" in such things)." - - -

Not all of us have put all our eggs in the ETH basket.

Certainly ufos (and their occupants) don't lend themselves to scientific study and their behavior is often lacking in what we'd consider "common sense".

However "faith" is my personal belief as a Christian (mainline protestant to be exact). I struggle with it nearly every day. I take that leap of "faith" and choose to believe.

That is not what happened when I, and a group of people with me, had a CE with a ufo many years ago. The result produced physically documented proof: conjunctivitis, partial 'sun' burns, vomiting and diarrhea in several of us - resulting in most of us needing to seek medical attention the next day.

If, after all these years having past, you've found nothing that supports the reality of ufos, why not find another hobby? I would have, long ago.

Matt Graeber sent in the following comment:

Franck,

We at UFORIC did not apply the Hendry phone mode of which you sigh about but, we did speak to him once and he was quite short with us. "We should not have used a 'for police only' hot-line number."

I noticed your arguments are pretty much of the old school variety and lack the straightforwardness of a text message. In other words, too many words and too little substance. If you prefer to "believe" in an "assumed" magnetic envelope protecting UFOS entering our atmosphere.... That's fine with me!

BTW, I have yet to contact Wim about that DAY LIGHT Belgian (French) case you mentioned. But, based on the investigator's detailed sketches "How did the UFO manage to land without TEARING DOWN the phone and power lines?" Please write me directly.

Regards,

Matt
